With a stretch of colder weather, the sap was running again last week at WMRHS, and students in the Natural Resources class were happy to have a chance to make more syrup. Kenny Mitton of Dalton, a senior at the North Country Charter Academy's afternoon session who is also enrolled in the morning Natural Resources class at the Paradise CTE, learned to run the evaporator. Kenny checked the density on his first draw-off of syrup.
